Background Story

Ogres are large, powerful and monstrous humanoids that live in brutal nomadic societies. Their combat style is rudimentary, as they protect themselves with their massive bellies instead of wearing armor, and fight using massive clubs instead of relying on any technology.

Due to their sheer size they are very powerful, able to crush enemy ranks with ease and soaking up a ton of attacks before even feeling them. Whilst their armies consist of much fewer individuals than others, don't let that fool you to believe that they are any less of a deadly threat.

The Ogres have been wandering around Tyria since the beginning of time, burning and pillaging everything that stands in their way. The only ally they have are pet goblins which they picked up as little helpers in order to build what little technology they use for battle.

Now that the great rift has opened they are slowly wandering toward it, happy to fight whatever foul creatures emerge from the dark...
