Background Story

Shadow Stalkers are elusive and nightmarish horrors that warp into being seemingly out of nowhere and haunt small villages all across of Tyria. Nothing is known about them except that they usually strike at night, and that their armies are lead by mighty pumpkin-head kings.

The backbone of their army is made up of living scarecrows armed with serrated sickles, as well as screeching phantoms that trap their victims spirits beneath their dark cloaks.

Then there are countless monstrous beasts that follow them into battle, from packs of twin-headed hounds to massive beasts with multiple arms known as butchers. To top it all off they sometimes appear with terrifying floating brains known as mind-screeches, as well as gigantic squid like terrors that devour anything in their path.

The Shadow Stalkers literally appear within the blink of an eye, and they are the stuff of nightmares for peasants everywhere.
